COMMANDER'S NARRATIVE SUMMARY

During the period covered by this report this Battalion was engaged in active patrolling and aggressive Small Unit Action throughout the TAOR. Emphasis has been placed on the close cooperation and mutual support of the local Popular Forces in the area.

Company "E" participated in a series of Company and Platoon sweeps that lasted for 17 days north of the Song Trau River, which is now in the 1st Battalion, 5th Marines sector. They distinguished themselves by the number of hard contacts made with the Viet Cong. They succeeded in inflicting heavy casualties on the enemy with very light casualties to themselves.

In the southwest part of our TAOR, Company "H", which was located on Hill 76, conducted extensive patrolling to the extreme western (left flank) portion of our TAOR. It was here that the greatest success was made in working with the local Popular Forces. The combined ambushes and patrols, coupled with a friendly attitude toward the people, has resulted in making all but two of the eleven villages amenable toward our civic action program. The PF commander located at KY RHU (2) has stated that these activities have forced the VC into the hills, and that they are getting hungry because they have been denied access to rice and other foodstuffs.

On 15 May 1966 the 1st Battalion, 5th Marines was assigned the responsibility for the TAOR north of the SONG TRAU River. As a result of this change in the TAOR, on 17 May Company "E" returned to the Battalion CP area on Hill 69 from its combat sweeps in the northern portion of the TAOR.

Between 18-20 May 1966 Company "G", that had been located in the Hill 69 Battalion CP area, moved to occupy portions of the right flank (north) of the new Battalion TAOR. They were given the mission of clearing and securing the KUONG NHON (2) area north to the SONG TRAU River from enemy incursions, in support of the occupation of these areas by the Fifth Marines Regimental CP and the 1st Battalion, 11th Marines artillery positions. KUONG NHON (2) has been under VC domination for several years. However, Company "G" has changed that with a series of Platoon and Company size operations that have either resulted in killing or capturing VC or VCS, or in driving them out of the area.

In the same time frame, Company "F", which was under the OPCON of the Chu Lai Defense Command, switched places with Company "H", our western and southern (left flank) of the Battalion TAOR. Company "F" has continued "H" Company's efforts in this area by close cooperation with the PFs and extensive day and night patrolling.

ENCLOSURE (1)

UNCLASSIFIED

On 23 May 1966 Lieutenant Colonel Walter MOORE relieved Lieutenant Colonel Robert E. USKURAIT as Commanding Officer of the 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines.

The Battalion CP on Hill 69 has been devoting its time to coordinating the operations in the TAOR, and commenced improvements in the following areas:

1. Reorganizing the perimeter.
2. Reconstructing the AN TAN Bridge defensive position.
3. Relocating the Battalion Supply and Motor Transport area.
4. Improving the logistical status of the Battalion.
5. Cleaning up and rehabilitating the company billeting areas.

During the latter half of the month this Battalion exchanged a number of officers and men with units of the 7th and 1st Marines. The purpose of this exchange was to spread out the RTD dates among all the units concerned. This resulted in our receiving more combat experienced personnel from these sources.

Progress in May has been noticeable. A great deal of combat experience has been acquired by the officers and men of this Battalion during this time. Heavy stress is placed on the coordination and use of artillery, tanks, and cntos in all types of combat operations. This Battalion intends to stress leadership and battle techniques at all levels, maintenance of equipment, and supply discipline. The morale, Espirit de Corps, discipline and unit efficiency of this Battalion is excellent; however, we intend to continue to demand even higher standards in all fields.

Medical Evacuation.

1. All med evacs were immediate requests, and were requested via the TACP local or Battalion TAC net to the ALO. The ALO relayed the request to the DASC via the TAR #2 (s) net. However, during the displacement of the Command Post, the request was relayed to the 1st Marines via the Regimental TAC net.

2. There were a total of sixteen medical evacuation requests, one of which was at night.

3. All medical evacuations were accompanied by a UH-1E gun ship.

4. The longest reaction time encountered was 40 minutes, but this was due to having commitments placed upon the med evac helos. The average reaction time was twenty (20) minutes.

5. Regardless of tactical conditions, all medical evacuation missions were accomplished. Effectiveness - Outstanding

(b) Resupply.

1. All resupply missions were conducted as follows: one in the morning, one in the afternoon, and as needed. The resupply was always requested via the H ST net.

2. All resupply missions were performed by two UH-34B, and each mission was performed within its expected time frame.

(c) Aerial Observers.

1. Only two AO missions were requested, and these were performed via the Division AO.

2. Once communications were established, the AO was ready to support us. The AO's were used on one observer mission and one artillery spot mission.

(d) Close Air Support.

1. The only CAS preplanned was two A&E on station. Neither these nor any CAS aircraft were utilized because of a lack of a lucrative target.

7. Intelligence. The anticipated locations and strengths of VC units expected to be encountered in the objective area are as listed below. The currency of information as received from the 1st Marine Regiment was based on reports received in April 1966.

The -19 LF Company was believed to be located in the area of Xuan Ngoc (2). BT 397112. However the ~~scheme of maneuver~~ did not place us in that area until the last day of the operation. Generally the operation, VC contact was minimal consisting mostly of harassing fire with more frequent fire coming from the vicinity of Xuan Ngoc (2) and Xuan Ngoc (1) (BT 395125).

b. The villages in the area of operations especially Bich Ngo (3) (BT 344170), Bich Ngo (2) BT 347161 and Duc Bo (BT 370150) were characterized by extensive trench lines, fighting holes and some barbed wire.

c. The village of Thach Kieu (2) was surrounded by a trench with fighting holes approximately every 20 feet. It also had a five strand barbed wire fence around it.

d. The weather while not extremely hot did range from 65 to 95 degrees. This combined with high humidity caused several heat casualties during the operation.

e. The area of operating was generally a lowland plain bordered on the west by a hill mass which ranged southeast along our route of advance.

f. The area was characterized by relatively flat terrain interspersed with low scattered hills and dissected by generally shallow stream beds and irrigation canals.

g. Vegetation ranged from sparse to moderate. Hedgerows in hamlets proved to be a hinderance to movement and visibility. The brush encountered in BT 3813 was similar to density and height to California sumac. Rice paddies were predominant in the northeastern section of the area of operations. However, they had been drained for harvesting and presented no problem to cross country troop movement.

8. Mission

a. Be in position on Hill 69 by L-Hour on D-Day prepared to execute heliborne assault.

b. On order on D-Day, execute a heliborne assault into LZ EAGLE (BT 335182).

c. Upon completion of helo assault, conduct search and destroy operations on an axis of advance generally southeast in assigned TAOR.

d. Be prepared to reinforce/exploit in the TAOR of the 3rd Battalion, 1st Marines.

e. Be prepared to conduct County Fair Operation.

b. Maintenance. Maintenance of equipment was no problem. Downed equipment was evacuated by air to the LSA and replaced.

c. Treatment of Casualties and Evacuation and Hospitalization. Helicopter evacuation was highly effective. There were no delays longer than 30 minutes. No land evacuations were utilized due to terrain features. None of the casualties sustained during the operation were jeopardized by the short delay in evacuation.

d. Transportation. When required, was timely.

e. Communications. The command group had 4 radio nets, Battalion tactical nets, Regimental tactical net, Regimental Command net, and tactical air request net, as well as the supporting arms radio nets to utilize for control of the operation. The AN/RRC-25 and AN/PRC-47 radios were utilized on these nets, with excellent results both in reliability and distances covered. Interferences by Vietnamese, VC and U.S. Army units was experienced but generally this interference could be overpowered. No serious communication problems were encountered on Operation Wyoming.

14. Commander's Analysis. This Battalion accomplished its assigned mission on Operation Wyoming. In doing so, the helicopter landed assault forces maneuvered as planned without initial contact the assault companies were able to conduct detailed search and destroy operations. The operation was considered timely and effective in that the indigenous of certain areas gave indications that they would welcome an effective local government loyal to the Republic of Vietnam. This operation gave assurance to those who would be loyal that Viet Cong dominance over the area is being challenged. Although civic action and psychological warfare was not extensive, it was proper for the area of operation and the duration of the Battalion's stay in the area. No non combatants were evacuated, medically treated or relocated during the operation. There were several casualties to non combatants however.

15. Recommendations

a. That further military operations be planned in the same area with a view towards clear and hold operations.

b. That future operations employ Popular Forces units and Peoples Action Teams.

c. That in the way of lessons learned:

(1) Marines be cautioned to anticipate that high ground and likely routes of ingress into hamlets maybe be mined or booby trapped.

(2) Women and children in occupied areas maybe or had been armed Viet Cong.

(3) In addition this Battalion learned from practical application some of the problems of fixing and killing Viet Cong.

A. Late Entries

At 29245 Co G at BT439111 received 10 rds E/A from BT441105. 01's fired 10 rds and a patrol from Co G at first light searched area without reestablishing contact.

B. Contact

At 301400, the 2nd platoon of Co "G", on a search and destroy patrol on Hill 270 (BT423046), discovered a cave approximately 10 ft by 10 ft in size at coordinates BT425047. Upon searching the cave, the patrol found 14 rounds M-79, 230 rounds linked M-60, 2 hand grenades, 1 bottle rice, 1 mosquito net, 5 sets chop sticks, 1 ammunition kit complete with 16 lbs C-4, several blasting caps, 1 rocket casing and filler for M16 type rocket, several documents and 1 notebook. The patrol left the cave and continued on their route after searching the area and finding nothing further.

Approximately 15 minutes later, the commander of a tank from 4th Plt Co "A" 1st Bn, operating in giving the Co "G" patrol direct fire support from Ontos Ridge (BT430070), observed activity at the cave site through a mounted BC scope. He saw 2 VC dressed in khaki uniforms and grass covered helmets emerge from the underbrush.

LESSONS LEARNED

I. Landmine Warfare:

The enemy we are operating against is well versed and trained in setting¹ an array of booby traps and personnel mines. Detection before detonation is the only answer to eliminating casualties; however, there are certain precautions to be observed which will reduce this hazard.

1. An absence of children in the area indicates presence of mines.
2. Most of the personnel injured by mines/boobytraps have dropped their guard due to heat and fatigue and are usually in a bivouac type area where the men have taken off their flak jackets to relax. In this situation men tend to group together, therefore complicating the problem. Leaders must be aware of this danger and take positive steps to prevent this.
3. Never use any bivouac area more than once and areas which appear to be inviting (shady areas, etc) are those most likely to be mined.
4. Popular Forces personnel have proven to be more effective than Marines in detecting mines and booby traps and should be used to the maximum extent.
5. A friendly attitude towards the villagers and children has and will continue to be helpful in obtaining information on the location of boobytraps and mines.
6. The obvious mine or trap is not the one designed to kill you, the unseen one in close proximity to the obvious is the one to look for.
7. The following are some of the boobytraps recently encountered:
 - a. An explosive device placed below a punji pit, designed to detonate when stakes are removed or disturbed. Therefore, all punji traps should be blown in place.
 - b. An explosive device (usually artillery round) placed in trees and detonated by electrical means when majority of troops are in the killing zone. Unit commanders must continue to impress on troops the need for keeping spread out at all times.
 - c. Explosive device (mortar/artillery rounds) placed in a triangle at ground level and detonated by a trip wire at the point of the triangle. This creates many casualties if the point is in its normal tight wedge formation. Again, keep maximum distance possible between Marines.

II. Tactics:

Lessons learned in tactics consist more of a ~~re-emphasis~~ ^{re-emphasis} of basic fundamentals.

1. Automatic weapons and radios must be concealed as much as possible within formations as they will be fired upon first.

2. Points and flankers must be well out in front (100 meters) of main body in order to detect ambushes.

3. All Patrol members must be thoroughly briefed on all aspects of the patrol.

4. Artillery and other prep fires should be utilized on any suspected enemy positions.

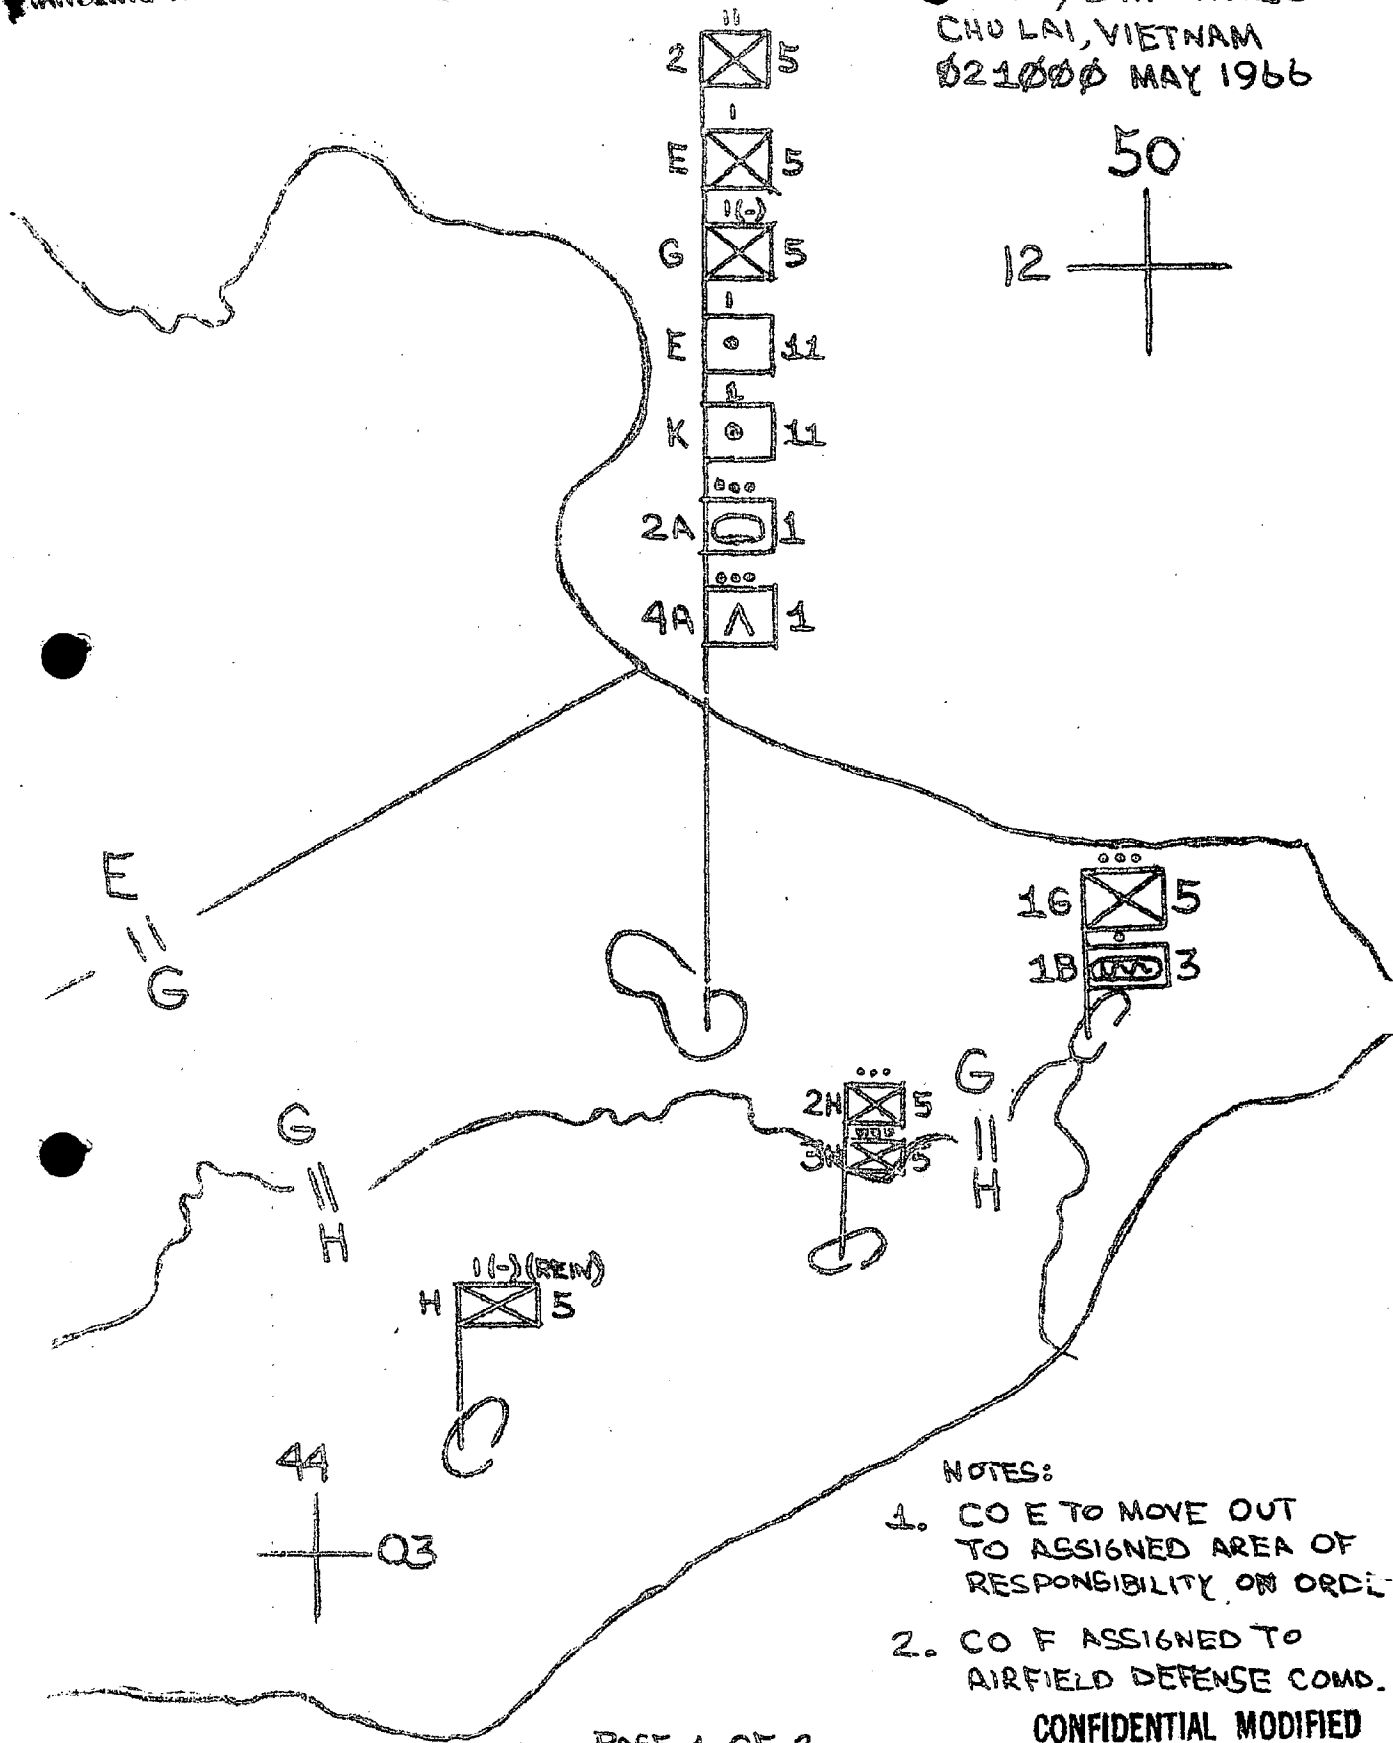

III. Miscellaneous:

1. Lost equipment is of a tactical value to the enemy. Personnel must be made very aware of the value of their equipment to the enemy and frequent inspections held by unit commanders. Viet Cong have been killed wearing serviceable Marine equipment.

2. Hand grenades should not be suspended on any portion of their equipment. A unit, if allowed to do this, will lose up to 10% of the grenades carried in this manner.
